

Mrs. C's Class

LEARNING GOALS

Reader's Workshop	Next week we will read Hooway for Wodney Wat by Helen Lester, to practice our reading comprehension strategies. We will learn about our hearts and bodies this week through non-fiction books.
Writer's Workshop	We will continue to focus on non-fiction writing by putting together our first book about a non-fiction topic. Students will use graphic organizers to organize their information and research using books and the computer.
Math	Next week we will begin to compose and decompose numbers 11-20. For example, we will know that eleven is 10 and 1 one.
Word Work	We will learn words the words an and so. We will learn words from the -an family.
Science	Students will look for shadows and discuss how the sun affects the Earth.
Social Studies	We will identify maps and globes as representations of real places. We will read, construct and use maps of familiar places (classroom) with assistance. We will match legend symbols to map features.
